D·COLLECTIVE

an open network and an community-run coworking space for people who wish to collaborate

WHAT
_meeting-place _workspace
_open network
_GbR

FOR _positive change

WHERE _Berlin Neukölln
WHEN
_since November 2012

WHO
_16 members from the fields of culture, design, economy, arts, communication, sociology, media and dancing.

La Berlina
B

lado de lá

anastrophic
videos mit TATAHHH

SCHWARZ+WEISS

EARTHSHIP
BIOTECTURE DEUTSCHLAND

JYOTI FAIR WORKS

pocket canvas

better today
Agentur für Innovation und Neue Arbeit

OUR OPEN EVENTS

Ideenpromenade

Collective Sessions

Workshops

BEFORE

_Neighbourhood has gentrification issues

_Being aware of the surroundings

_Financial limitation: DIY work to overcome constraints

NOW

_Structure limitations due to growth of the start ups

_Keep the identity in a larger scale

_Deal with change of individuals' visions and needs over time

_Encourage members to dedicate time to space tasks

OUTPUTS

Cooking together

_The space brought us closer and allowed us to develop trust

_ Sharing ideas and visions allows projects to emmerge

_We gained team building experience

_The events and social media communication amplified our networks

_D.Collective became a reference in the local Design Thinking and Start-Up scenes

Design Thinking workshop at Social Media Week

Companies' visit

_We are stronger TOGETHER

_Physical space fosters exchange and trust, so ideas can immerge

_Personal and professional growth through knowledge sharing

_Deeper interaction and flexibility with the space through the DIY culture

_People deliver more quality work when they are passionate and motivated about what they do

_Visions and needs change, and the space must change with them

_How to grow without loosing our DNA

_What other business models are out there which have horizontal structures and work well?

_How can d.collective finance itself so we can have a bigger space without increasing the fees too much?

_How can we encourage people to be responsible for certain tasks?

"Einst wurden Menschen in eine Gemeinschaft hineingeboren und mussten ihre Individualität finden. Heute werden Menschen als Individuen geboren und müssen ihre Gemeinschaft finden."